Dear parents,

the Easter holidays are over, but the Corona pandemic continues and contact restrictions have been extended. A situation that affects us all and is associated with many uncertainties. Right now, you as parents have a lot to handle and you are certainly asking yourself how life will be going forward for your children and their school learning.

The IQSH would like to support you during this time with additional digital services.

We have compiled various sets of information and made them available for you on a newly set-up website.

If you are wondering:

- How can learning at home be successful?
- How do we deal with conflicts?
- How do we find additional offers of support and help?

then you will find answers to these and other questions on the webpage www.fachportal.lernnetz.de / Support for parents.

Please feel free to pass on the reference to this website to other parents. Especially those who may have language barriers. We will make translations available of all contents of the parents' website in Turkish, Farsi, Arabic and English.

If you would like to contact us directly for questions and suggestions, you are welcome to do so by email via eltern@iqsh.landsh.de, or you can contact the parents' representatives of your schools directly.

We wish you and your families all the best - stay healthy!

Sincerely yours,
Christiane Hüttmann
